1. Summarize those cases that are listed in the lead section with particular regard to [REDACTED].

b6
b7C

2. Obtain subscriber information for listed telephone numbers. In those instances where the numbers are non-published, an administrative subpoena should be issued to obtain this information. Administrative subpoenas are to be utilized based on drug trafficking information set forth in the preceding. For those non-published numbers within the states of Florida and North Carolina, the Atlanta Division will issue appropriate subpoenas in view of the fact that [REDACTED] [REDACTED] is located in Atlanta. Results from those states will be provided to appropriate offices in the future.

b7D

3. Will conduct appropriate FOIMS and criminal checks on subscribers.

4. If there are indications that a subscriber is involved in organized crime or drug activity, it is requested that appropriate sources be contacted regarding these individuals and their association with [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] is described as follows:

HEADLINE: Detours into the noontime city for bites in unexpected places

BYLINE: By Elliott Mackle Dining critic

BODY:

Dear Carrie and Marty:

Boy, does summer go fast, you know what I mean? Hey, this one's practically history. And hot, too.

We've been taking a little time off - off from the office (ha ha) - and hitting the really funk-ola lunch spots. Like they're total Edge City. But some are pretty elegant, too.

I mean, who could sit at a desk all day? The boss is in Maine or Sea Island or someplace. We got it coming, I figure.

So here are the places where we've been. Check it out.; Good plane food

THE DOWNWIND. Guys who possess the right stuff eat here. They wear short-sleeve dress shirts, narrow neckties, polished black oxfords and (natch) aviator frames. Their eyes are as sharp as their buzz cuts. What they eat is pilot chow: drugstore sandwiches involving one or more forms of animal (grilled bacon and cheese, ham and cheese, burgers); french fries (crisp, tasty, greasy and satisfying); chili; baklava; coffee and Cokes (free refills on the latter).

The place - room, building, spectacular view of flight line and runways - is right out of a bomber-jock epic of the 1950s or '60s. Rock Hudson and Jimmy Stewart could be those guys at the next table. Or the slick pair at the opposite end of the upstairs hall peering through an opening into the hangar. (Don't you miss it, either.) The framed plane pix lining the cafe walls are half military, half commercial. Most of the guys have likely flown most of them. They'd love to tell you about it.

1951 Peachtree-DeKalb Airport (off Clairmont Road), Chamblee. 452- 0973. Lunch: 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday, noon-5 p.m. Saturday. Sandwiches $ 3-$ 4. MasterCard and VISA ($ 15 minimum). Not wheelchair accessible. Alcohol served. Smoking permitted.; Puttin' it on, takin' it off

RAGG'S. If you get lucky here, what you see is slim women in designer dresses with gold earrings the size of Mercedes-Benz hood ornaments. The men's suits look like the work of Italian plastic surgeons. So do the haircuts - on everybody. The waiters are aspiring actor/model types.

Marriott's Apparel Mart bistro serves Atlanta's slaves to wholesale fashion - and anyone else who cares to make the scene (it is open to the public). So hey - up front: I wish some artist would redesign the quote- unquote fried clams in the sandwich, which taste factory baked.

On the other needle, the cream of broccoli, potato and carrot soup we had was awfully good. Beef barley was too cornstarch-heavy for this time of year. But we liked it, too. (A menu card shouts, "All our soups are homemade!")

We inspected the buffet (salad, baked potato and daily hot dish) but kept on moving. A burger, though overcooked, was considerably more appetizing.

Atlanta Apparel Mart, 250 Spring St. N.W. (Near the door at street level.) 220-2268. Lunch: 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m Monday-Friday (and weekends during apparel shows). Soups $ 1.50-$ 2.25, sandwiches $ 5.25-$ 5.75. All major credit cards. No adjacent parking. Alcohol served. Smoking permitted.

THE GOLD CLUB. For neophytes, daytime may be the right time to try the Disney World of local strip bars. Everything is clean, polite and fully priced. Lighting is low-level but not murky, sound high-tech though no danger to the eardrums. Cover charges don't apply until 3 p.m. Performers (three or four to a set) appear on stage in abbreviated costumes (the Latin Hellcat, the Gypsy, the Catholic Prep-School Girl) and shuck down to high heels fast. Their bodies approach the airbrushed perfection of coeds in a Playboy magazine spread.

Patrons are almost exclusively male, many in neckties and wedding rings. Tables are sturdy enough for someone to dance on, which happens frequently enough. Entertainers also are available for light conversation. The slim young woman who joined us remarked that she prefers working during the day. Lunchtime is "really more relaxed," she explained.

Food, not surprisingly, is bar food: sandwiches, fried shrimp, steaks and chili. It is prepared not in the building but, our waitress cheerfully volunteered, across the street at Ken's Tavern. A runner delivers it - and this can take a while. "Maybe he got run down in traffic," the server joked.

A Reuben sandwich was tasty and moist, a cheeseburger dry and overcooked, fries soggy but - sopped in Heinz ketchup squeezed out of tiny plastic pouches - quite delicious.

2416 Piedmont Road N.E. 233-1210. Lunch: 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m. Monday- Saturday. Sandwiches about $ 4, domestic beer the same. MasterCard, VISA and American Express. Valet parking $ 3. Wheelchair accessible. Alcohol served. Smoking permitted.; Where ladies do lunch

SWAN COACH HOUSE. The former Swan House garage, designed (like the house-turned-history center) by Philip Schutze, serves as restaurant, gift shop and gallery. Operated by Forward Arts Foundation, a women's group supporting local visual arts, the coach house is essentially a public clubhouse for Buckhead and Northside gentry.

Clientele is 95 percent female, and 95 percent of them wear skirts. Non-Southern accents stand out like Colombian drug lords at an Episcopalian christening. Decor is Motel Monticello: padded flower-print fabric on the walls; plasticized upholstery masquerading as chintz; and heavy china and silverware that recall great-grandmummy's second-best.

Since Rich's Magnolia Rooms went to food-service heaven, this is probably the best place in town for such Southern standards as garnished chicken curry, frozen fruit salad (even better than Rich's), cheese straws (bland and too thick), lemon chess pie (pretty good) and molded lime Jell-O with canned mixed fruit. Chicken salad is honest, tasty and presented in heart-shaped pastry timbales. The French silk swan - a theme dessert involving meringue, chocolate mousse and whipped cream - has a tail like a rat's. Surely no one else would be rude enough to notice.

Atlanta History Center, 3130 Slaton Drive N.W. 261-0636. Lunch: 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Monday-Saturday. Plate lunch, $ 5.75-$ 8; desserts, $ 2- $ 2.50; whole pies to take home, $ 12.50. MasterCard and VISA. Reservations for 10 or more. Alcohol served. Smoking permitted.

HOUSTON MILL HOUSE. Here's history to sink your teeth into. Maj. W.J. Houston (say it "HOW-stun") constructed a dam and water-powered grist mill on the property a century ago. In 1900, he installed DeKalb County's first hydroelectric plant. Two decades later, contractor H.J. Carr bought the place and built a family home using native stone and maple woodwork. Since the 1970s, the Emory University women's club has operated the house as an entertainment center.

Tables in the former living room and sun porch are closely packed and linen-laden. Private rooms for meetings and parties, as well as two bed-and-breakfast rooms, are available. Service is warm-motherly yet professional.

Food is an interdisciplinary mixture. Blueberry pie, though slightly scorched at the edges, was as deliciously homemade as any Mrs. Major Houston or Mrs. Carr might wish. Chocolate torte, professionally turned out, was a superior product. Crab Trudeau - a large, fried, crab-stuffed cake with tomato sauce, sugarsnap peas and roasted potatoes on the side - may well have began life in a factory. Who knows, who cares? It was delectable, and I ate every bite. Epicurean chicken stir-fry (alas) consisted of three kinds of peppers (bell), one kind of chicken strips (tasteless) and onions. Epicurus would give it an F.

Emory University, 849 Houston Mill Road N.E. 727-7878. Lunch: 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Monday-Friday. Lunch plates $ 6-$ 8; desserts $ 3.50-$ 4. Some dishes may be prepared using safflower oil. No credit cards. University employees may use departmental accounts. Reservations recommended. Not wheelchair accessible. Alcohol served. Smoking permitted.; Gettin' down the downtown line

DELECTABLES. Blink your bifocaled eyes and you might miss it. A modest banner marks the entry to the city's best cafeteria - and perhaps best underground feedery. Located in the main public library, this nearly invisible 5-year-young wonder is as sophisticated as any novel by Anthony Trollope, Edith Wharton or Tom Wolfe.

I mean, how many cafeterias give you a choice of salad oils that include avocado, walnut, canola, extra-virgin olive and hazelnut? How many serving-line attendants offer to reheat the bread pudding with bourbon sauce (which is flat-on delicious)? Do I need to rave on about the lemon tarragon chicken salad, shrimp and pesto pasta salad, quiches, chocolate chunk cookies and raspberry almond tart? You get the story.

Atlanta-Fulton Public Library, 1 Margaret Mitchell Square N.W. (enter at Carnegie Way and Fairlie). 681-2909. Lunch: 11 a.m.-2:20 p.m. Monday-Friday. About $ 10. Reservations for large parties. No credit cards. Wheelchair accessible from inside library. Alcohol not served. No- smoking section.

GEORGIA STATE EMPLOYEES CAFETERIA. Governors lunch here. So do legislators, lobbyists, bureaucrats and assorted federal, state and local functionaries. So can - and should - you. It's clean, fast, dirt cheap and easy to find. Directly adjacent to the Georgia State MARTA station in the Twin Towers office building, the cafeteria is inside a block's walk of Georgia State University, Underground Atlanta and the Capitol.

When you alight from elevator or escalator, go to the food court at the south end of the large room. A dozen specialty stations offer hot entrees and fresh vegetables, pastas and pizza, yogurts, soups, burgers, sandwiches and salads. Fried and baked chicken (with corn bread dressing), apple and cherry pie, and turnip greens with ham are reliable choices. The salad bar costs a bargain 20 cents an ounce, a grilled chicken salad plate $ 1.95.

Second floor, Floyd Twin Towers, 2 Martin Luther King Jr. Drive. 656- 6655. 11 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Monday-Friday. Lunch: $ 4-$ 5. Cash, traveler's or cashier's check. Wheelchair accessible. Alcohol not served. No-smoking section.

WACHOVIA CAFETERIA. Here's another worthy el-cheapo at Five Points. The former First National Bank cafeteria sports a somewhat cramped food- station space. An expansive, well-lighted eating area and pleasant view make up for that. Three added bonuses: the best tables are in the no- smoking area; the staff is friendly and helpful; and the customers are generally as quiet and appropriately dressed as stereotypical bankers.

My usual choice is the veggie plate: four Southern-style items with tea or coffee for $ 3.25. Green beans, sweet potato souffle, fried okra, greens, a corn muffin and, perhaps, pecan pie are the right way to break a day in half. Fried chicken, fish and salads are handled well. Salad bar costs 24 cents an ounce. Attractive chef salads are $ 2.65 and $ 1.85.

Second floor, 2 Peachtree St. N.W. 332-6388. Lunch: 11 a.m.-2:15 p.m. Monday-Friday. No credit cards. Discount for bank employees. Adjacent to Five Points MARTA station. Wheelchair accessible. Alcohol not served. No-smoking section.

GRAPHIC: Color Photo: Do I need to rave on about the shrimp and pesto pasta salad at Delectables? Color Photo: Probably the best place in town for Southern standards. / Photographs by Louie Favorite / Staff Color Photo: The Disney World of local strip bars, everything at the Gold Club is clean, polite and fully priced. Not surprisingly, they serve bar food.

Visitors from around the globe will see some of the world's greatest athletes in Atlanta this summer. And then some of these tourists will even make it to the Olympics.

The Gold Club will drape its building in Olympic bunting and beckon visitors to spend some quality time with its "dancers." This "gentlemen's club" is adding eight more "Gold Rooms" to six it already rents for a minimum of $ 600 per hour.

"The place is going to become an Olympic village," said ED LEVIN, promotional director of Gold Club.

Ah, American culture at its finest!

The Bloomberg Business News reports that another club, the Cheetah, "has built an 'executive room' with plush, oversized sofas and chairs, mahogany-wood paneling and a humidor stocked with fine domestic and imported cigars as well as a 3,000-plus fine-wine cellar."

There is also some business about a "fantasy room" with whirlpools and "neon soap," but there is no sense getting into all that here.

Speaking of sleaze, another attraction in Atlanta is the "adult lingerie modeling studio" that TED PARABAK wants to operate across the street from Olympic City, Coke's $ 20 million theme park for the games.

He figured he could make $ 3 million for just two weeks of the private "modeling" for clients. "It's not like we are going to be dragging kids off the street into the club," Parabak said.

Elsewhere in the disturbing world of sports:

The UFR Crummy Event of the Week was an Olympic boxing fund-raiser Thursday night at Madison Square Garden. The "bouts" featured ROY JONES battling DICK GRASSO, chairman and CEO of the New York Stock Exchange.

"There will be no rematch," said Grasso, who somehow lasted three "rounds" with Jones patting at him like one of those BUTTERBEAN "opponents."

Former punching bag GERRY COONEY beat SID DAVIDOFF of Davidoff & Malito. However, Paine Webber President JOE GRANO upset MARK BRELAND. "I wouldn't say I won without his help," Grano said. "He could have killed me at any time." Really?

The UFR Poor Sport Citation goes to boxer ANDREW GOLOTA, who takes on RIDDICK BOWE July 11. Golota is best known for biting SAMSON PO'UHA on the neck in their fight last May and head-butting DANELL NICHOLSON in another bout.

Bowe seems unconcerned about Golota's tactics. "He'd better not try to bite me," he said. "If he bites me, he'll look like my grandmother. No teeth. They tell me he's a tough guy, but I'm just going to have to tenderize him."

The Fone Call: UFR associate editor emeritus D.J. FONE of Affton is back with "Surefire Signs This Is Going To Be a Long Season." They included:

Players' bench sports a "Now Hiring" sign.

New team mascot dressed up like Marge Schott.

No birthday cakes for veterans by order of fire marshal.

Coach's office-supplies order includes "rope."

Nearby bar crammed with players. Before the game.

Newly hired coach asks for Realtor reference, is sent to "Apartment Exchange."

Words To Live By

"Boxing is like a jealous mistress for a lot of guys."
